4. INDIGENOUS EDUCATION STATEMENT

OVERVIEW

The Department of Industry, Innovation, Climate Change, Science, Research and Tertiary Education (DIICCSRTE) requires information from higher education providers relating to their 2012 outcomes and future plans to meet ongoing responsibilities for Indigenous student achievement in higher education.

These responsibilities include assessing and reporting on progress towards improved educational outcomes for Indigenous Australians as set out in the goals of the National Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Education Policy.

The Indigenous Education Statement is also used to determine providers’ eligibility for Indigenous Support Program (ISP) funding. Please refer to the Higher Education Support Act 2003 – Other Grants Guidelines (Education) 2008 which details ISP grant conditions. There are three conditions of eligibility for ISP - Table A providers must demonstrate to DIICCSRTE that they

- Have implemented strategies for improving access, participation, retention and success of Indigenous Australian students
- Have increased participation of Indigenous people in the provider’s decision-making processes and
- Have an Indigenous employment strategy.

Providers in receipt of ISP funding are also required to provide DIICCSRTE with a report on the expenditure of the grant amount. The expenditure report for 20152 ISP funds must be included in this Indigenous Education Statement.

The Review of Higher Education Access and Outcomes for Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander People (Behrendt Report) was publicly released in September 2012 and presented Government with a roadmap for real and lasting change and its 35 recommendations are supported by extensive evidence. The Behrendt Report says that significant reform can be achieved within existing funding. Realising the vision of the Behrendt Report will require a concerted and collaborative effort from Government, universities, Indigenous communities, industry, business, the professions and the community sectors, but it is achievable.

The Government is making a substantial investment in the sector, university leadership is committed to making the required change, and the Behrendt report provides the knowledge base for making it happen. The new Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Higher Education Advisory Council will have a significant focus on providing advice on how to drive the systemic change outlined in the Behrendt Report.

It is recommended that the format for the Indigenous Education Statement noted below is followed to ensure providers report against all relevant criteria. However, this should not limit providers who wish to report on a wider range of matters.

The Indigenous education statement is due by 31 May 2013.

Please try to limit your answers to the template for each question.

Please submit electronic documents by email at itpt@innovation.gov.au

Among the aims outlined in the Strategy is the need to “achieve Indigenous staff employment rates that are reflective of the Indigenous working population, and Indigenous retention rates and levels of seniority are commensurate with Victoria University non-Indigenous staff.” The Strategy outlines plans to increase the numbers of Indigenous Australians employed at the University and ensure the advancement of Indigenous staff by providing targeted recruitment, cultural support, cultural awareness training, leadership engagement and professional development opportunities. Mumgu-Dhal Tyama-Tiyt – is an Indigenous foundation program that provides a pathway for successful students to enter the Bachelor of Arts (Kyinandoo) program. It targets Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people who live in the western suburbs of Melbourne. In its third year of operation, this program has expanded its delivery to include the Certificate III in Community work to enable students to gain more confidence to progress to further study.

Bachelor of Arts (Kyinandoo) is an Indigenous specific degree program targeted at Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people living in South Eastern Australia. It provides 12 core Indigenous and Global Indigenous units, 2 academic support and career development units and 10 elective units that enable students to pursue their career objectives. The retention rate for this course is above the Victorian average.

Certificate IV (Business Governance) is an Indigenous specific, fully-funded governance course provided in collaboration with Aboriginal Affairs Victoria and the Victoria University Sir Zelman Cowen Centre. It is targeted at Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander people who sit on, or wish to participate on, Boards of Victorian community-based organisations. Students can pathway into the Bachelor of Arts (Kyinandoo) program.

The Smith Family, Communities for Children Project is housed in the Moondani Balluk Indigenous Academic Unit, funded by Communities for Children and aimed at engaging with Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander families and children in Melbourne’s western metropolitan region. The University works with service providers and agencies to ensure relevant and accessible programs. Identification of the Indigenous population is extremely difficult in the western suburbs and this program provides a route for student recruitment into Victoria University programs. The program is housed in the Childcare Traineeships Pathways is an Indigenous specific program funded through the University’s People & Culture portfolio. Students are able to pathway into the Bachelor of Early Childhood and Education degree or the Bachelor of Arts (Kyinandoo) program. There are four trainees one of whom has taken up the offer to enrol in the Early Childhood Education program.

Clayton Utz Scholarships Development – The Victoria University Foundation and Moondani Balluk are currently in discussions with Clayton Utz exploring opportunities for VE Scholarships for Indigenous students wishing to engage with further study.

Indigenous Strategy Development: As detailed in Section 4, the University has developed an Indigenous Education Strategy to increase Indigenous participation at Victoria University. The Plan includes a number of key strategies and programs to improve Indigenous education outcomes and ensure participation rates for Indigenous students that ensure that their representation is equal to that of the regional and national population. While implementation of the plan has commenced in 2013, development occurred during 2012.

In August 2011 the University Council approved Victoria University's Strategic Plan for 2012-2016: Excellent, Engaged and Accessible setting ambitious goals for student outcomes. The University’s Strategic Plan established eight Priorities, one of which, a Social Inclusion Priority under the University’s curriculum and student experience platform, which has among its aims the desire to improve Indigenous participation at Victoria University:

Social inclusion priority

Build upon the existing social inclusion and equity strategy to widen the opportunities for non-traditional students to access and succeed in tertiary education and in particular, grow the proportion of students from Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander backgrounds choosing Victoria University to support them to participate in both community and education, and assist their transition into the workplace.

Our aspiration is that a greater proportion of students from Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander backgrounds choose Victoria University as a university which is welcoming, culturally safe, celebrates their culture and supports them to participate in both community and education, and assists their transition into the workplace.

To achieve this Priority, the University recognised the need for a stand-alone Indigenous Strategy and for a Strategy that encompasses all aspects of University activity and community, encompassing research, knowledge exchange and employment as well as education; vocational and higher education. As such, the University has outlined a series of goals for Indigenous educational participation and achievement that are designed to support the attainment of aspirations of the Social Inclusion Priority, including:
• Achieve Indigenous undergraduate and postgraduate student enrolment rates that are reflective of state population parity of 0.7 per cent for Victoria.
• Achieve Indigenous undergraduate and postgraduate progression and completion rates that are equal to those of other undergraduate and postgraduate students at Victoria University.
• Ensure that all courses specifically offered to Indigenous students are of high quality, appropriately supportive, academically rigorous, and are aligned to the expectations of students and requirements of potential employers.
• Develop Indigenous competency amongst all Victoria University students by striving to create an environment in which students have the opportunity to gain knowledge of Indigenous Australians.
• Develop and promote Indigenous research across Victoria University.
• Raise the visibility of Indigenous people and culture across Victoria University.
• Achieve Indigenous staff employment rates that are reflective of the Indigenous working population, and Indigenous retention rates and levels of seniority are commensurate with Victoria University non-Indigenous staff.
• Offer Indigenous staff appropriate professional development opportunities to enable them to fully realise their potential within their discipline or profession.

The Vice-Chancellor will lead the development and implementation of the IES, delegating accountability to members of his Senior Leadership Team (SLT) as appropriate. In this capacity the Vice-Chancellor will chair the Indigenous Strategy Leadership Committee which consists of senior leaders with direct accountability for the achievement of the Strategy and senior representatives of the University's Indigenous community:

• VP People and Culture
• DVC Academic and Students
• VP Marketing
• PVC Research
• Director, Moondani Balluk
• Two other Indigenous staff members nominated by the Vice-Chancellor that represent both Higher Education and VET

A series of Indigenous Program Implementation Groups will also be established to ensure that the programs and actions outlined in this document are on-track and achieve their desired aims.

The IES builds on exemplary work undertaken by Moondani Balluk. It is a requirement for all staff members of Moondani Balluk to be Indigenous Australians and as such to be connected to their own communities, the communities in which they live and/or the western suburbs community in which they work. Many staff are actively involved in community projects and/or Committees external to the University that range from Community Arts Centres, to Aboriginal Cultural Heritage, to Health Services or local co-operatives and Local Indigenous Networks. These staff are called upon to assist local Councils and service providers in building and maintaining relationships with the Indigenous population of the western suburbs and in the design and implementation of RAP’s.

Bachelor of Arts (Kyinando) – delivered by Moondani Balluk at the St Albans campus of Victoria University. This is a higher education degree that provides a culturally relevant and appropriate program for Indigenous students within a culturally safe environment. Kyinando consists of 14 core units delivered across Semester 1 and 2 and Summer and Winter School.

Student Mobility Grant/Tour – In 2012 Moondani Balluk applied for and was granted DIICSSRTE Student Mobility Grant funding that enabled a Kyinando student study tour to Navajo and Hopi Lands in North America. This tour complemented the 3rd Year Kyinando student learning and assessment criteria within the Global Indigenous core units. As the funding amount is restricted, Victoria University agreed to utilise the ISF grant to complement the grant funding to enable students to undertake the tour and experience first-hand Indigenous community development and cultural heritage. The students also contributed by undertaking numerous fundraising activities at Victoria University and in the community.
AEK Unit discussions – Across the year, Moondani Balluk staff worked closely with non-Indigenous academic staff in the design and development of Bachelor of Arts (Kyinando) units. Our aim was to enable Indigenous staff to teach into their preferred areas of expertise and as such developed 2 new Units for delivery; Indigenous Art and Indigenous Literacies. The Indigenous Literacies unit was co-taught by the Indigenous lecturer from the School of Education and a non-Indigenous lecturer from the School of Communication. Further work on the Victoria University Indigenous Education Strategy objectives can assist in this area.

Policy Review - In 2012, in conjunction with Governance, Policy and Planning Services, we completed a review of the University’s Aboriginal Education Policy and Acknowledgement Policy which aims to provide an overarching document to enable Indigenous perspectives across the institution and outlines the holistic approach to improve educational opportunities for Indigenous Australians across both sectors of the University.

Programs for educational support

The Victoria University Students’ portfolio provides a variety of student support services: Learning Work and Career Development, Student Connections, Student Engagement and Student Operations. All Victoria University students can access these services.

The Victoria University College delivers bridging and preparatory programs and services to people, particularly in the West, who wish to engage with education in order to pursue further education or vocational training pathways, move into employment or participate in community engagement. Programs provide support and targeted bridging to specific cohorts of students including Indigenous Australians. The Mumgu-dhal Tyama-tiyt certificates are part of a culturally specific course is designed for Indigenous participants who want to re-engage in education and then follow a path into further education and employment. The certificates develop literacy and numeracy skills and confidence building. The course provides the Indigenous community in Melbourne’s west with pathways into the Moondani Balluk, Bachelor of Arts (Kyinando), as well as the vocational sector within Victoria University.
Moondani Balluk plays the leading role in supporting Indigenous students at Victoria University.

At Victoria University Orientation days, Moondani Balluk provides a Welcome to Country and information on Indigenous programs. This assists in providing information for commencing Indigenous students who are enrolled in other Victoria University programs and may wish to enrol in Kyinandoor Units or attend Moondani Balluk events.

Moondani Balluk information is available in Student Diaries, Course Guides and on the web. This information gives Indigenous students the ability to make contact with Moondani Balluk to enable the provision of appropriate services and referral information as required.

The Administrative Student Support Officer makes contact with all enrolled Indigenous students at the end of each Semester in order to determine any issues pertaining to support or pastoral care.

The Moondani Balluk space at the St Albans campus works extremely well in welcoming and enabling Indigenous students to feel safe within the institution and to participate in Indigenous specific programs and those provided in the ‘mainstream’ area of the University. The Unit believes strongly in the ability of direct experience to assist in creating a safe environment and another ‘community’ for our Indigenous students across the University. Despite the challenges of a widespread multi-campus university and its relatively small staff, Moondani Balluk, in 2012 all enrolled Indigenous students were contacted and invited to attend a number of St Albans campus events for higher education Indigenous students.

6. To provide all Australian students with an understanding of and respect for Indigenous traditional and contemporary cultures.

Your response to this goal needs to address but is not limited to the following points:

- Details of how and to what extent Indigenous perspectives are reflected in curriculum at your institution.
- How the University addresses the cultural competency of its staff and students.
- The Universities involvement with Indigenous community members in working toward this goal.
- Indigenous Education Unit’s role.
