History AMIHIS

Knowledge of the past has always been central to human awareness. For more than a century, the study of History has underpinned the Western liberal tradition. History is connected with the search for meaning. It conveys communal memory, creating a sense of personal and group identity by locating individuals in time and space. The study of History offers each of us the chance to understand, even bridge, other cultures. The minor in History offers opportunities to sample this diverse human experience. Our aim is to both challenge and excite you as you move through the study of History, beyond your own lives to those of people in other times and other places. We also aim to develop an appreciation of the contributions historians make to an understanding of contemporary society.

Gender Studies AMIGEN

Gender is one of the major ways that human society is organised, whether considered from a social or cultural perspective. Gender Studies has developed over the last three decades into a complex and influential academic specialisation. The ideas of Gender Studies, and in particular the theories and practices of feminism, have significantly shifted the ways of knowing across many fields of academic inquiry. The Gender Studies minor provides you with a critical education in major theories and applications about the place of gender.

in a social context, and how power is exercised by the way everyday life is structured in space and through the way we come to 'know' the world.

Sociologists study a wide variety of topics, including: education, work and unemployment; the family; health, sex, gender and sexuality; ethnicity and racism; equality, opportunity and inequality; and crime, law and social justice. The Sociology Minor aims to foster students' critical analytical skills and to offer opportunities to apply sociological tools of analysis to their own inquiries into contemporary social life.

Interpersonal Organisation Skills HMIOS

The Interpersonal Organisation Skills minor consists of a set of applied psychology and skills-based units. Students will gain an understanding of interpersonal and communication, counselling, and organisational psychology theories. The focus will be on the integration of this theoretical knowledge with experiential skills based activities. In this minor students will be provided with opportunities to enhance their self-awareness, foster their skills in working with individuals, develop effective group membership skills and understand how organisational processes impact on the well being of individuals. Completion of this minor provides experience and knowledge in a range of applied skills which assist students in applying their learning directly to the problems and challenges they will find working with individuals, groups and organisations in their professional lives.
