6. Guidelines

Victoria University Research Repository (VURR)

In submitting this material, you:

1. Grant an irrevocable licence to VU to store, reproduce, publish, and electronically communicate this material to the public in hard copy and any electronic format (including on VURR's open access internet site).
2. Warrant that you have the authority to grant VU this licence and VU will not infringe any other licences, agreements or other person's rights in this material by using the material in accordance with the above licence.
3. Warrant that VU will not infringe any third persons' rights by using the material in accordance with the above licence where the material contains copyright works (which are reproduced in whole or in part) belonging to other persons.

What you need to know about the VURR license

1. Copyright ownership

In granting VU the above rights, you will normally own the copyright in the book, article or other written scholarly literary work you have produced (see VU's Intellectual Property policy) unless you have assigned this to another party in a written agreement (such as a publishing, funding, or collaborative agreement).

Depositing material into VURR does not transfer copyright ownership to VU.

2. Staff and student responsibilities

In granting VU the above rights, you must ensure that you have the right to provide the licence to VU. The following types of material are not to be submitted to VURR:

- Material which must remain confidential or is a trade secret.
- Material which, if made available on the VURR website, would infringe an existing legal obligation of yours, VU's or of another party.
- Material which contains a part of another person's work and you do not have the necessary permission to place it on VURR (see the permissions guide on the copyright website).
- Material which may be patented and potentially commercialised for your and VU's benefit (and where the publication of this material on VURR would diminish this potential).

3. Users of VURR

Users of VURR may print and save electronic copies of whole papers for their own non-commercial use. Users must fully reference any excerpts, quotations or paraphrasing from papers that they access from VURR. If the material is required for any other purpose, users must get permission from the copyright owner directly. Where a particular item on VURR is subject to a Creative Commons licence, then that material may be used accordingly.

4. Removing material from VURR

You may remove material from VURR if the Dean, Graduate Research authorised this. Material will be retained on VURR even if you leave VU.
